

Provincial Teaser
Corinne Griffith, in the
"GARDEN OF EDEN"
Matinee Saturday at 2 o'clock

THE COLEMAN JOURNAL

PUBLISHED IN THE PREMIER COAL MINING CENTRE OF THE CROW'S NEST PASS.

At The
PALACE THEATRE
Fri. and Sat., August 3 and 4

Vol. 7 No. 49

Coleman, Alberta, Thursday, August 2, 1928

$2 per year, single copy 5c

Buy Advertised Goods

The Journal Recommends to its Readers

THE STORES WHOSE ADVER- TISEMENTS APPEAR EACH WEEK

They are striving to interest you in Home Buying, and they are contributing to the upbuilding of the town. Buy Advertised Goods, for it pays. The stores that advertise sell more goods at a closer margin of profit, and it will pay you to deal with them.

Rushton's Cash Grocery

announces a line of Specials this week which it will pay you handsomely to take advantage of. Read this list, and buy all you can at the money-saving prices given.

Alymer Yellow Peaches, ½ lb.	22 oz glass jars	.35
Alymer Bartlett Pears, 22 oz glass jars		.35
Red Cross Chow Chow Pickles, per jar		.50
Red Cross Sweet Mustard Pickles, per jar		.50
Red Cross Sour Mixed Pickles, per jar		.50
Lux, 3 packets for		.30
Fairy Soap, 4 packets for		.25

EXTRA SPECIAL

No. 1 Rice, 3 lbs for		.25
Target Coho Salmon, ½ lb., 3 tins for		.55

WHY ROB YOURSELF when you can save money in buying from our grocery at these prices?

RUSHTON'S CASH GROCERY PHONE 221 - J. M. RUSHTON, Prop. - PHONE 221

DISTRIBUTORS LIMITED

Announcement of hours of delivery for Beer and other Malt Products From the Coleman Warehouse

Hotels and Clubs	8 to 10 a.m.
West Coleman	10 to 1 p.m.
East Coleman and Graftontown	1 to 4 p.m.
Central	4 to 6 p.m.

To ensure delivery on day ordered, orders must be in well in advance of delivery hours.

J. BELL, Agent • Telephone 103

This advertisement is not inserted by the Alberta Liquor Control Board or by the Government of the Province of Alberta

Mr. and Mrs. Lindoe returned from Lethbridge on Monday afternoon, where they took part in the Alberta tennis tournament. Mr. Lindoe reached the semi-finals. They also visited relatives and friends in the district, spending a very pleasant holiday.

Secretary Parry has received folders and application forms giving full particulars of Returned Soldiers Insurance. The information contained is well worth the consideration of returned men, and the secretary would be pleased to give forms to any returned soldier applying.

BELLEVUE WON FROM COLEMAN

In a spirited game between Bellevue and Coleman football teams on Saturday evening, the visitors won a score of 3-1. For the first half the game was scoreless, and Coleman supporters congratulated themselves that the team had done so well, as many of the regular players were off and substitutes had to be played.

In the second half, however, a series of misfortunes befell the goal-keeper for Coleman. Ford in reaching for a dangerous shot, dislocated his knee, which though not putting him out of the game handicapped him to a considerable extent. He played a brilliant game until then, making some very thrilling saves, but after the first goal scored by Bellevue, lost no time in following up their advantage.

One of the former players was back in the game—Dick Shone, who as a centre half was one of the strong men of the team before he suffered the loss of his hand. With more practice Dick will likely be able to be of good assistance to the home team.

A number of supporters came up from Bellevue, though it was noticed that very little support was given by Coleman football fans.

CANNOT BE TOO CAREFUL

A fine of $5.00 and costs was imposed by Magistrate Gresham at Blairmore on information laid by Mine Inspector Heeley that Andrew Seaman was in possession of one match while in the Hillcrest Colliery, a place禁區.

As every miner knows only too well, too great caution cannot be observed to enforce the safety rules of the mines and the lives of the men working in them, and though it may not be intentional that a man may have a single match in his possession, neglect cannot be allowed to stand as an excuse.

With the risks always attendant on mining the slightest breach of the rules cannot be overlooked if it comes to the notice of those responsible for the safety of the mines.

STIFF JOINTS AND SORE MUSCLES

At the Masonic picnic held last week some of the members not accustomed to violent exercise, essayed to play such games as baseball, tug-o-war and other athletic games that require the expenditure of considerable energy. Despite their ages they made a pretense of showing what like a man whose waist-line begins to increase in measurement owing to advancing age, they hated to admit to themselves even that they were not as good as they used to be. But despite the brave showing they made before their wives and fair admirers, the next day or two clearly proved that such exercises cannot be indulged in without rather painful after effects.

Not that any were serious at all, but even yet some of them still move around as if a little more oil is needed in the bearings.

HOSPITAL NOTES

A Brocklehurst was operated upon last Monday and is progressing satisfactorily.

Ernie Barnes has been a patient for 13 weeks, suffering from an injured back. Daniel Lewis was operated on, an old wound having given him further trouble.

Mrs. Melnyk is progressing following an operation. Alex Holyk was admitted last week to be operated on for appendicitis. Nine patients were operated on for the removal of tonsils.

Wes. Johnson was out to the North Fork, where he took only fishing. A short time later he caught the largest fish of the parties who were out. It measured 18 inches from nose to the center of the tail.

A young chap, who was so cleverly inclined to hold up a car, was given a good thrashing. The collision was obscured by the dust and by the headlights of another car coming towards them. In making the sudden swerve to avoid hitting the stalled car, Mrs. Brown was thrown against the glass of the door, receiving a nasty gash in the forehead, necessitating two stitches being sewn at Nata.

SALVATION ARMY PICNIC

On Wednesday of last week the Salvation Army held a very enjoyable picnic at Crow's Nest Lake, spending a full day there and the Sunday school class of the Army at Crow's Nest also joined in the pleasures of the day. Sports were held and a general happy time spent.

Capt. Donnelly desires to express his thanks to all who contributed to the success of the day by generously loaning cars, which helped to get many to the picnic who had no other means of getting there.

Personal and Local

Mr. and Mrs. Cornett were Sunday visitors at Waterton Lakes Park. Mrs. Ed. Ledieu and children are spending a week or two camping at North Fork.

It is reported there were over 500 at the dance at Waterton Lake Park on Saturday evening. With good roads the people flock into this favorite resort.

D. O. Mackie, of the International office, spent Sunday at Waterton Lake and vicinity, and took some scenic photographic views with specially prepared color plates.

Mrs. S. P. Fraser of New York was the guest this week of Mrs. W. G. Fraser, Sixth Street. She is visiting relatives at various points in Western Canada.

The Burrows and C. Derbyshire families motored to Edmonton last week, and were delighted with the trip, the splendid crop outlook giving cause for optimism.

Mr. Silverthorne of Calgary has taken employment at the mine. Mrs. Silverthorne has been here for a few weeks on the nursing staff of the hospital, and will engage in her profession as special nurse.

Capt. Barnes, officer commanding the 18th Field Brigade, Canadian Artillery, returned on Monday morning from Sarcee Camp, where he spent six weeks. All branches of the service were in training at the camp, which proved very successful.

Eric Muncaster, of Blairmore, has resigned from the high school staff, and will engage in journalistic work in Southern Alberta, with headquarters at Lethbridge, acting as special representative for the Calgary Alberian.

A car was badly wrecked in the small lake at the Frank slide on Sunday afternoon. According to people who saw the car approaching, the driver appeared to have lost control, as it was travelling an erratic course from side to side, and then headed over the bank into the water. The occupants were able to extricate themselves from the car. All the glass was broken and the car otherwise badly damaged.

During the weekend ten summonses were served on autoists exceeding the speed limit between Blairmore and Crow's Nest Lake. The provincial police are determined that this dangerous practice will not be tolerated. Too many accidents are occurring, and often the innocent, careful driver suffers from the mad driving of irresponsible hogs of the road. The police will have the support of the vast majority of the public in their efforts to suppress this dangerous practice.

While driving on Sunday evening between Hosmer and Natal, E. W. Brown, commercial traveller of Coleman, collided with a car which had stopped ahead of him to permit another car to pass. The car with which Mr. Brown collided was damaged as he swerved to try and avoid hitting it, but he caught the rear end, and burst through the windshield. The collision was obscured by the dust and by the headlights of another car coming towards them. In making the sudden swerve to avoid hitting the stalled car, Mrs. Brown was thrown against the glass of the door, receiving a nasty gash in the forehead, necessitating two stitches being sewn at Nata.

ANNOUNCEMENT

MRS. ALTERMATT wishes to announce that she has opened a music studio at her new residence over the Blairmore Hardware Store. For payment of the balance of the bill was paid in a similar way when the opportunity presented itself a few nights later.—Blairmore Enterprise.

Palace Theatre

Friday and Saturday, August 3 and 4

Walter Morosco Presents

CORINNE GRIFFITH
in the

"GARDEN OF EDEN"

with Lowell Sherman, Louise Dresser and Charles Ray

Adam, Eve and the Serpent—in modern clothe!

The fig leaf, the apple—and a climax that exposes great drama. What went on in Eden? Let beautiful Corinne Griffith tell the tale. "The Garden of Eden" is a lovely lady laugh special of Paris and Monte Carlo! It's an eye feast—a heart thrill.

Children's Matinee Saturday 2 p. m.

HERE ARE SOME BARGAINS

Edison Cabinet Gramophone, diamond needle, with 31 records, all first-class.

2 Kitchen Tables, 4 x 2 feet, with drawer.

Handsome Buffet, mission finish, with Plate Glass Mirror.

2 Screen Doors.

MUST BE SOLD AT ONCE

Also Massey Harris Wagon, brand new, never been used.

Enquire at once at the

Coleman Trading Co.

J. Michalsky, Proprietor

Chinaware and Crockery FREE

at the

Coleman Trading Company

From now on Coleman Trading Co. will give coupons to all cash purchasers and those who have fortnightly accounts, which will entitle them to their choice of Chinaware or Crockery, as soon as they have $100.00 worth of coupons. They count up very quickly with your daily or weekly purchases. Take advantage of this—ask for coupons when making purchases.

CLOSE QUOTATIONS

on large or small quantities of goods, or case lots of canned goods will be given to cash purchasers. It will save you a good many dollars. We would be glad to give you prices.

Coleman Trading Company

Also Agents for

Massey-Harris Farm Implements, Wagons, Buggies, Etc.

P.O. Box 268, Blairmore, Alta.

TWO SEAPLANES CARRY MATERIAL TO H.B. TERMINAL

Ottawa, Ont.—Remarkable feats have been performed and more are being attempted this year for the Hudson Bay terminal project.

At Flight Officer James of the Royal Canadian Air Force are flying two flights daily between Nelson and Churchill, transporting men and material from Nelson to the New Hudson Bay railway terminal.

Each plane is doing 600 miles a day. In addition to the large amount of material transferred by the seaplanes within the past month or six weeks, 116 men who have been working at Nelson have been transported to Churchill without any mishap.

The flyers have also taken photographs for the topographical survey branch of the Department of the Interior, and observed ice conditions off the two harbors. At present 25 men are at work at Churchill and 200 remain at Nelson dismantling the equipment there and preparing it for transfer to Churchill. Eventually practically all of these men will have been moved to Churchill.

A large amount of transfer work is being done by boat, the sterners from Portage being taken to the temporary docks constructed at Churchill. About 13,000 tons of such material and supplies will be moved during the present summer.

Another big project is the towing to Churchill this summer of the two dredges from Montreal.

Barring accidents it is expected the two dredges will reach Churchill by September 20, too late to do much work this year. Their real performance will commence next summer. The dredges and their crews will require a total tonnage of over $150,000. The two dredges cost $60,000 each, in addition to which will be a large quantity of material on at least one of the convoys.

Three hundred thousand feet of crib lumber is now being loaded at New Westminster, B.C., ready to leave next Sunday to journey southward down the Pacific coast, through the Panama Canal and thence to Hudson Bay. She is expected to reach Churchill about September 10. Two other vessels with supplies are due to leave Halifax at an early date.

Tunney Retains Championship

Heneen succumbs to Technical Knockout in Eleventh Round

Yankee boxer, Tunney, was felled and staggering, his face a bloody smear, Tom Heneen, the hard rock from Down Under, collapsed and fell a victim to a technical knockout in the eleventh round of his world's heavyweight championship battle with Gene Tunney.

Tunney, born and bred in New York, and defending his title at home for the first time, cut the sturdy, courageous New Zealander to pieces, subjecting him to one of the worst beatings a challenger ever received.

The spectators saw Heneen wade into unbroken slaughter through round after round, as Tunney, the master boxer, lashed his face with left hooks and pounds his heart with vicious cold rights.

Heneen came charging in like a bull, but the elusive Tunney, cool and collected, evaded his wild rights to the jaw and stabbed him with lefts to the face until the thud of the gloves against Heneen's cut and bruised face almost became monotonous.

Nobile Reaches Norway

Harbor Workers Refuse To Handle Ships Thrown From Ship To Dock

London—With its flag at half-mast, the supply ship Citta di Milano with General Umberto Nobile and the survivors of the Italian disaster on board arrived at Narvik, Norway, and a Central News dispatch from that city:

The arrival, added the dispatch, was watched with sullen interest by the harbor workers who refused to handle the ships thrown from the ship to the docks.

The attitude of the Norwegian toward the Nobile party was caused by the reports of the desertion of Prof Maingrem, Norwegian scientist with the expedition, who was injured and left behind.

Canada's hens produce over 250 million dozen eggs in a year, worth $60,000,000.

Phone Call From London

Moose Jaw Station Converses With British Metropole in Test Talk

Moose Jaw, "Hello, this is London, England, speaking, how do you know me?"

This question was asked by a voice speaking 9,000 miles away while the listener was in Moose Jaw man, J. F. Inch, operator of the telephone office. For two or three minutes Mr. Inch conversed with the man speaking from the metropolis of England, some 6,000 miles away, and he could hear him clearly throughout the conversation.

The test call was put in from the British Isles to Saskatchewan to determine the efficiency of the long-distance system recently inaugurated whereby a person in the West can converse with anyone in the Old Country.

Veteran Mountie Dead

Captain Dewey Enlisted When Force Was Being Formed

Edmonton.—One of the last survivors of the original troops of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police to cross the plains in 1874, Capt. Sir Cecil Edward Denny, 79 years old, and Baronet, died in a local castle, Kerry, Ireland, in a local castle on July 24.

He left Ireland at the age of 24 and enlisted at Ottawa in the R.N.W.M.P. which was just being formed. He rose to the rank of Inspector in the force and was one of the officers to see the famous treaty of 1877 with the Indians.

In late years Sir Cecil Denny has been acting as archivist for the Alberta Government, and has written several books on early life in the west.

Nova Scotia Reports

Few Men Available

Cannot Supply Number Asked For To Assist In Western Harvest

Halifax.—The department of labor has notified the minister of labor, at Ottawa, that Nova Scotia would be unlikely to supply more than 75 per cent. of the number asked for to assist in the harvest of the Western wheat crop.

It was stated that owing to the increased activity in the province in building and mining industries, the number of men who will go on the harvest excursion from Nova Scotia would not be more than 1,200.

Find Wreckage Of Plane

Is Advanced That It May Exist in State of Nunavut

Copenhagen.—A fragment of airplane wreckage with some silver and bronze colored fabric attached to it has been picked up from the Jutland Coast.

In the belief that the wreckage may possibly be part of the Nansen's Ernesto plane lost last year, the fragment has been sent to Paris for identification. The wreckage was found by Dr. Frode, a Danish physician. There was a wireless receiver among the fragments.

Heads Teachers' Federation

Winnipeg Man Elected President For Coming Year

Winnipeg.—C. W. Ladlaw, R.A., principal of the MacPhayre junior high school, Winnipeg, was elected president of the Canadian Teachers' Federation for the ninth annual conference here.

The other officers of the association for the coming year are C. Braden Jelley, of Summerside, P.E.I., who was given the majority vote over C. H. Sweet, of Alberta, for vice-president; and Alderman M. J. Colwell, of Regina, who was re-elected secretary-treasurer of the organization.

Will Investigate Nobile Charge

Rome.—Italy's inquiry into the conduct of the Nobile expedition, which has been suspended since the start, is to still hostile criticism throughout Northern Europe, is expected to be opened late in September or early in October. It is believed that it will be directed by Mussolini himself.

Hall Rains Crops

Saskatoon.—Heavy grain crops, almost ready for the harvest, were completely wiped out in some parts of central Saskatchewan last week by hall which accompanied the worst electrical storm—to have swept this district a decade ago.

Plan Visit To States

New York.—Field-Marshal Lord Allenby and Lady Allenby have planned a visit to this country, and are due to land here October 2.

Balfour At Eighty

Distinguished British Statesman Has Been Advisor To Three Sovereigns

London.—Great Britain celebrated recently the 80th birthday of one of her most distinguished statesmen, the Earl of Balfour. Lord Balfour's public service goes back back 54 years, in 1874, and he is one of the few great survivors of the Victorian era. He was adviser to three successive sovereigns.

The only other statesman of outstanding eminence in the period alive today is the Earl of Rosebery. He has been out of politics for 20 years and is an invalid. Earl Balfour is a member of the cabinet today, being Lord President of the Council.

Notwithstanding the threat infection which laid him aside during the winter and spring, he is again notably active. His recent illness necessitated a rest from his usual physical activities including tennis, of which he was a devoted player, but the Daily Mail quoted him recently as saying that he intends to take up tennis again shortly.

Lindbergh's Earnings Large

Federal Tax Payments This Year Amount To $30,000

Washington, D.C.—During the latter part of 1927, according to reliable information, the earnings of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, New York City, first amounted to $30,000 and his federal tax payments this year amount to $30,000. He started his earnings by winning the $25,000 Orteig prize for being the first to fly the Atlantic to Paris. For touring American cities he received $300 a day from the Guggenheim Foundation.

WILL CONSIDER MORE PLANS TO AID IMMIGRATION

Ottawa, Ont.—The announcement by Right Hon. Winston Churchill that the British government is prepared to spend more money in stimulating British immigration to Canada has created deep interest at Ottawa. While officials of the immigration department are unaware of the various policies suggested, it is expected that Lord Lovat, who will arrive in Ottawa shortly, will have complete details.

All of the proposed policies with the exception of the boy immigration scheme are either new or are schemes which have been suggested by the Canadian government and refused by the British Government.

This is true, particularly of the proposal to give to settlers a substantial loan to aid them in commencing farming. The Canadian government obtained the consent of the British Government in the 300 family scheme to an arrangement whereby the British Treasury advanced $1,500 per head but when the agreement expired the British government sought to reduce the amount for future settlement to $500. When this was refused they increased the amount to $1,200 and it is not expected that they will be prepared to deal with settlers in still more generous terms.

In the matter of reducing the ocean fares the Canadian government has hitherto been opposed to spending more public funds for this purpose, but it is believed that the steamship companies and the British government may unite to this end. The other schemes suggested by Mr. Churchill are all regarded sympathetically at Ottawa, and as soon as Lord Lovat arrives the department will reach a decision.

In the Matter of Reducing the Ocean Fares

Nanaimo, B.C.—Opium valued at $100,000 was seized at the bonded warehouse here. It was concealed in a package of freight marked "peanut oil" and "salt turn."

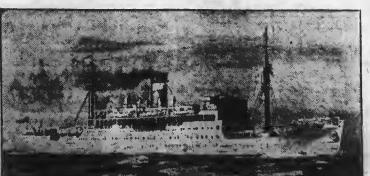

The packages were addressed to Lun How, a local Chinese merchant and are thought to have come over on a liner recently arrived from Asiatic ports.

The seizure was made by provincial police assisted by officers of the customs preventive staff.

Lessening Fire Hazard

Winnipeg.—Rain is gradually lessening the fire hazard of the forests of Northern Manitoba districts, and according to forestry officials here the 20 to 30 fires which the Royal Air Force and the fire rangers have been fighting strenuously during the past month are gradually petering out under the drenching.

NEW CANADIAN STEAMSHIP

The "Lady Nelson," first of five steamers being constructed for the Canadian National Steamships to be operated between Canadian Atlantic ports, the West Indies, British Guiana, Bermuda, the Bahamas and Jamaica. They will engage in passenger, cargo and mail traffic, with special refrigerated equipment. The passenger accommodation will be of the most complete character. In construction these ships are being built to comply with all requirements and will possess the most complete facilities for comfort and safety. The "Lady Nelson" was launched on July 17th, and was christened by Madam Lapointe, wife of the Minister of Justice.

TO VISIT CANADA

CANNOT SUPPLY PLANE To Hunt Prospectors

Department Of National Defence Receives Many Appeals

Ottawa.—"The first requisite of a prospector is the ability to find himself." That is the view taken by the Department of National Defence as outlined by an official of that department. The department is being inundated with appeals for "planes" in search for prospectors thought to be lost.

"When a prospector in the Northern woods fails to turn up when his employers or associates think he should they rush to the Department of National Defence asking that a 'plane' be sent to search for him," said this official. "In most cases the departing planes are mostly lost. In the first place the prospectors are usually lost at all, but something has impeded his progress. Then if he were lost there is very little chance of an airman seeing him from a 'plane.'"

English Cadets Will Compete

Alberta To Consider Town-Planning Scheme

Freuler Is Position To Make Recommendation To Council

Edmonton.—Premier Brownlie has accepted from his visit to the University of California where he gave the opening address at the fourth annual convention of the American Institute of Co-operation, by invitation of the U.S. federal minister of Agriculture.

En route, he stayed at Victoria and Vancouver to interview two possible town planning directors for Alberta's recently-formed Town Planning Commission. H. L. Seymour, town planning commissioner for Vancouver, and Douglas Lovell, who had just completed a town planning survey in Victoria. These two, with other applicants will be considered by council in the near future, and the premier indicated that he was in a position to make a recommendation to council.

May Meet In Canada

League Of Nations To Consider World Disarmament Conference

Ottawa.—A world disarmament conference, vastly more far-reaching in its scope and consequence than the United States' Multilateral Treaty for the outlawry of war, will be considered by the council and committee of the League of Nations in September.

It is expected that in the event of the conference being decided upon the Prime Minister of Canada may issue an invitation for the conference to be held in Canada.

Big Opium Seizure

Shipment Valued At $120,000 Is Seized At Nanaimo

Nanaimo, B.C.—Opium valued at $100,000 was seized at the bonded warehouse here. It was concealed in a package of freight marked "peanut oil" and "salt turn."

The packages were addressed to Lun How, a local Chinese merchant and are thought to have come over on a liner recently arrived from Asiatic ports.

The seizure was made by provincial police assisted by officers of the customs preventive staff.

Lessening Fire Hazard

Winnipeg.—Rain is gradually lessening the fire hazard of the forests of Northern Manitoba districts, and according to forestry officials here the 20 to 30 fires which the Royal Air Force and the fire rangers have been fighting strenuously during the past month are gradually petering out under the drenching.

It was announced officially that the King had received with great regret an intimation from the Archbishop that he was desirous of resigning his high ecclesiastical office on the recommendation of the Privy Council. A Royal Warrant appointed a commission consisting of the Archbishop of York and Bishops of London, Durham and Winchester, for the purpose of receiving the resignation of the primate.

The commission reported that it accepted the archbishop's resignation to take effect on November 12, of this year, and this has been approved by His Majesty.

The Archdiocese of Canterbury, 90th of his life, is 80 years of age. At about the time his resignation will take effect he and his wife will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary, and it is planned to present to them on this occasion a fund which is now being collected, to ensure greater comfort in their declining years. A memorial will also be placed at Lambeth Palace, residence of the Archbishop of Canterbury, to mark the golden gift given by Dr. David and George Palmerston to the church and nation.

Most Rev. Cosmo Gordon Lang, Archbishop of York, is the most probable successor to Dr. Davidson. Indeed it is reported he has already been offered the post and has indicated his acceptance.

WOULD FORM A CENTRAL BUREAU OF EDUCATION

Winnipeg.—Agitation for the establishment of a Dominion Bureau of Education, which had its inception at a formal meeting form at the Canadian Teachers' Federation convention.

The objects of the bureau would be to bring about uniformity in the standards of the teaching profession and the creation of a federal teachers' registry, centralization of educational policies and stimulation of research work under government supervision.

Another resolution upon which action is deferred, asks the national research council to set aside a certain sum of the annual grant for a study of educational psychology.

A resolution advocating that steps be taken by the departments of education in the various provinces of the Dominion to limit the number of students attending normal schools to the needs of the provinces was passed back to the resolutions committee for re-drafting.

An extensive survey of the advancement made in the field of educational research was given by Dr. W. F. Russell, dean of Teachers' College, Columbia University, N.Y. In his opinion there was a tremendous need for intensified and concerted effort in this work. Great strides in the past were continued in the future he predicted that the teaching profession in the next hundred years would see as significant advances as those made in the field of medicine and other sciences.

Dr. Russell stated that too much stress could not be laid upon the importance of scientific study of educational problems. He expressed the hope that Canada and the U.S. would join with other nations of the world in interchanging results obtained from their independent investigations. By such a forward step, overlapping would be avoided to a degree, educational standards materially advanced while the pupil would derive immediate results.

Harvesters From B.C.

Coast Province Will Be Able To Supply Us With Quotas

Vancouver.—British Columbia will be able to supply its usual quota of harvesters from the coast this year, in the opinion of government officials here. While it is stated conditions in British Columbia are better than in past years, it is estimated that six thousand men will be available for the harvest fields of western Canada this year, in the opinion of J. H. McVety, superintendent here of the Dominion employment service.

Record Number Of Entries

Many Nations Will Be Represented At Olympic Events

Amsterdam.—Entries for Olympic swimming, rowing, yachting, wrestling, modern pentathlon and cycling have closed with a record number of countries signifying their intention of competing.

Thirty-four nations will be represented in the Olympic swimming, 23 in yachting, 20 in rowing, 29 in wrestling, and 14 in the modern pentathlon.

Portrait Presented To Dominion

Ottawa.—A magnificent life-size portrait of the late Earl of Minto, at one time Governor-General of Canada, has been presented to the Dominion archives. The portrait, the work of Miss Vicari, an English artist, arrived recently, and has been hung in the room devoted to Governors-General. The Dowager Countess Minto, widow of the late administrator, donated the gift to the nation.

Significant Much the Same

Ottawa.—R. G. Ross, solicitor, says that the Government may take over a number of provincial or privately owned railways in different parts of the country and merge them with the Canadian National, brought the statement from the Minister of Railways that the situation is very much the same as in the last session when he stated that Sir Henry Thornton is looking into all these propositions.

Camp Borden Flier Killed

Toronto.—While dropping a note from an airplane to his fiancee, Miss Dorothy Falls, at Wasaga Beach, Ralph Birrell, 23 years old, of Winnipeg, Camp Borden pilot, is believed to have struck an air pocket and crashed to his death when the machine collided with a tall pine tree.

Professional and Business

Alex M. Morrison

Notary Conveyancer

Fire, Life &amp; Accident Insurance

R. F. Barnes

Barrister and Solicitor

Phone 305 Coleman, Alberta
Residence Phone 249 B

D.A. McLeod, L.D.S., D.D.S.

DENTIST

Office Hours: 9 to 12 a.m., 1 to 6 p.m.
OUIMETTE BLOCK

At Hillcrest Every Monday

Andre Wagon

Diplomed - Auto Tint

Voicing - Action Repairing

General Repairing

All Work Guaranteed

(Violin Bows Re-Haired)

Leave word at Journal Office, Coleman
Herbert Snowdon
Real Estate and Insurance
Notary Public & Commissioner for Oaths
PHONE 30 B ColemanSentinel Lodge
No. 25
Meet every second and fourth Thursday at 7 p.m.
Visiting Brethren Welcome
Hall is available for rent
Apply to E.C. Clarke, K.P. BlockLoyal Order of Moose, No. 502
Meetings first and third Sunday of each month, at 7:30 p.m.
Visiting Brethren Welcome
Hall is available for rent.
Apply to R. Parker, Trustee.SUMMIT LODGE
No. 30, A. F. & A. M.
Regular meetings held first Thursday of each month, at 8 p.m.
Visiting Brethren cordially invited
T.E. Flynn, W.M. Maurice W. Cooke — SecretaryGeneral Draying
and Teaming
Fire Wood for salePlante & Antel*East Coleman Property Owners Given Clear Title

People wishing to purchase lots in East Coleman will be given a clear title to their property upon payment of same.

W.A. Beebe, H. Snowdon,
Blairmore, Coleman.The Coleman Lumber Yard

Give us a chance to solve your building problems! We will submit to you lowest prices on anything that you may wish to erect.

Nothing too Big! Nothing too Small!

We now have a large stock of Rough and Dressed Lumber, Sash and Doors, Cement, Brick, Lime, Plaster, Shingles, Laths, etc., etc.

Compare our Prices. Compare our Stock

J. S. D'APPOLONIA
Contractor and Builder
Plans and Specifications Furnished
PHONE 259 COLEMAN

THE COLEMAN JOURNAL

Published Every Thursday at Coleman, Alberta. H. T. Halliwell, Proprietor.
Membership Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association and Alberta Press Association

THURSDAY, AUGUST 2, 1928

Landing Fields Required

As air mail routes will be established across Canada, and Lethbridge is marked as one of the airports, it is likely that this southern route to Vancouver will find favor with those charged with mapping air routes across Canada. This being the case, it is not too early for serious consideration of looking around to ascertain if a landing field could be located in this vicinity. Emergency landings will be required, and already preliminary work has been done on a field some distance west of town by the Forestry Service. Coleman Board of Trade by showing an interest in this will be doing good service. Cities and towns that immediately realize the importance of air travel and make plans to accommodate it will receive the benefits.

Newspaper Pioneers

The pioneer spirit of newspaper men is exemplified in The Star, published at Whitehorse, Yukon, copies of which were recently received at this office. One issue bears the air mail stamp of the Yukon Airways and Exploration Co., having been carried from Whitehorse to Atlin, B.C., by the "Queen of the Yukon," the first commercial plane to penetrate that country. It is edited by James Dugald Skinner, and in a town of 300 people it is surprising that such an interesting paper can be published. Yet his advertising columns bear evidence of loyal patronage and a spirit of progress, and a note of optimism pervades the paper in its faith of the future of the Yukon. The subscription rate is $5.00 per year, and a special anniversary number bears a wealth of historical information on that territory of which so little is known by the average person.

The Yukon was made famous by the gold rush to the Klondyke, and later by Robert W. Service's poems, "The Songs of a Sourdough." Service was a clerk in the Canadian Bank of Commerce at Whitehorse, and depicted life in the Yukon in some very graphic verses. In his honor the tourist park is named at Whitehorse, and whenever one hears of the Yukon, they immediately think of Service and "The Cremation of Sam McGee," (which took place on the shores of Lake Le Barge, where touring school marines look searching as if expecting to find the ashes of Sam,) and also of the bars and the dance halls and "The Lady Known as Lou." If one is looking for a real change in a holiday trip, some with romantic features and real atmosphere, they would doubtless find them in a tour of the Yukon and the Klondyke.

Plain Talk

With a population in excess of 3,000 people, the question occurs—are the business men fully alive to their opportunities for the development of their own businesses? There are a number who are alert, aggressive and progressive, and who are benefiting from their vision. On the other hand there are some who apparently do not realize the potentialities that exist here, and who are quite content to allow things to drift along. No effort is made to develop their own businesses, and in consequence they suffer.

There is nothing like plain talk to shake people out of that shell of indifference which is fatal to progress. Some may pat themselves on the back, they feel they are doing all they can, and fall into the slumber of self-content, while the flies and the spiders make roosting places of their stores.

Just take stock of the various business places, or look through the columns of the local newspaper in any town to find who are the wide awake business men. You will get a very correct synopsis by an analysis of this nature. Of course, the process of elimination eventually forces the non-progressive merchant to drop out of the picture, in these days of modern competition from so many angles, and when the public are able to see the world to a much greater extent than they were a few years ago.

People living in the towns now require the same service as those living in the cities, and the merchant who realizes this is bound to be a leader in his line of business. Coleman provides the retailer a splendid opportunity for business development, an opportunity which retailers in many prairie towns would give their eye teeth for. But it must be cultivated by aggressive and progressive methods.

A piece of advice which every business man can take to heart with profit is to take a holiday once a year and travel as far as he can to find out as much as he can how others are doing business. There is always some new idea to be picked up which might prove of great value. Too close application to any task will obscure the vision and have a tendency to kill the spirit of enthusiasm which is necessary to business success.

Here and There

(106)
Lumber companies report the greatest volume of business in Alberta since the boom year of 1912. Over 1,000,000 cords of lumber is being cut in Alberta this year but, the bulk of the supplies come from British Columbia mills.

A press report from Telfordville states that the farmers are well pleased with the extension of the twenty mile extension to the Headley subdivision of the Canadian Pacific Railway. A large number of settlers have come into the territory which will be served by this extension and the old timers in the district are now clearing and breaking as much land as possible.

Kyohel Kato, who represents a Tokio concern, and who has just arrived in Canada from Japan, stated that he had bought 8,000,000 bushels of wheat in Canada, or about half of Japan's total wheat production. He said that Japan got more for its rice than Canadian wheat cost in their market. Hence the present purchase of wheat from Japan is being made to obtain more wheat foods and adapting themselves to the stronger diet.

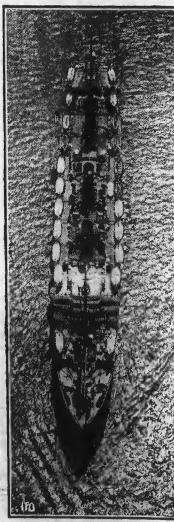

"The Maritime Provinces in particular, and Canada in general, need more commercial advertising," was the opinion expressed by Mr. A. M. Baxter, Prime Minister of New Brunswick, when interviewed on arrival on board the "Empress of Britain" at Liverpool. He said that British settlers in the Maritimes have been quite satisfactory as regards type and quality of their products and he hoped to be able to obtain a great many more over a period of years.

Part of a litter of eight red foxes, which, together with the vixens, were captured in the Arcola district recently, have been brought to the Royal Ontario Museum. The foxes, which were captured by Mr. G. W. Thompson, have established a fox farm east of this city. It is many years since red fox have lived in large numbers in the southern part of this province, where these were captured. Mr. White intends to start raising patch foxes, a cross between red foxes and black fox, as a commercial enterprise.

Wool growing in Western Canada is increasing rapidly, according to W.W. Thomson, manager of the western branch of the Canadian Co-operative Wool Growers' Association. Up to June 30th he pointed out, four carloads of wool had left Regina for Western Ontario, (for grading) by Government auctioneers as compared with one for the similar half year of 1927. This year's shipments represent 108,000 lbs. from 390 flocks in the province.

In the mystic number "14" of the calendar, refers to the Royal Order of Jesters, an organization within the Ismailia Temple Shrine of Buffalo, who sailed on Friday the Thirteenth of July, 1928, with thirteen members in their party, from Montreal for Liverpool. The society meets on the first of every month at 8 p.m. in the afternoon and is divided into courts of 13 members each. The party of Jesters sailed on the crack new Canadian liner "Duchess of Bedford" in a group of Shriners visiting the old world.

An Empress

The Canadian Pacific liner "Emperor of Australia" in Southampton Roads.
From a height of two thousand feet above the water, the toy boat, although her registered tonnage is 21,860 gross and she is one of the largest liners to come up the St. Lawrence River.

McGILLIVRAY CREEK COAL
and COKE CO. LTD.Shippers of High Grade
Bituminous Steam Coal

Head Office and Mines:

COLEMAN

ALBERTA

The Makings of A Newspaper

It not only takes news to make a newspaper, but advertisements of live, progressive merchants. A newspaper reflects to a great extent the enterprise of the business men of the community in which it is published. And their advertisements not only create an impression that is bound to be favorable in a general sense, but also create new business and retain the old.

EVERY MERCHANT

who is alive to his opportunities for developing business within his own domain realizes that his weekly advertising in The Journal is a very important factor that cannot be ignored if he is to remain in the front rank of all competitors.

THE JOURNAL GOES INTO THE HOMES

International

Coal &amp; Coke Co., Ltd.

Producers of

High Grade Coal and Coke

PROMPT ATTENTION
To Local Deliveries

ALBERTA AGENTS

DISTRIBUTORS LIMITED

This advertisement is not inserted by the Alberta Liquor Control Board or by the Government of the Province of Alberta

The Modern Way--the Easiest Way
---to Write Letters

is with a

Remington Portable

Business practice demands that letters be written so as to be easily and quickly read. Poor penmanship is the curse of modern business---it is bad form---hence the universal use of the typewriter. For a business house not to use the typewriter for its correspondence and invoicing is a sign that it is not moving with the times.

Boys and girls can also learn at home, with the aid of an instruction book given with each machine. The terms are made to suit the purchaser, as follows:

$ 5.00 per month---Total purchase price $85.00
$10.00 per month---Total purchase price $80.00
Cash price when paid at time of ordering $75.00

Machines supplied in various colors---Call and see samples

H. T. HALLIWELL
DEALER

THE JOURNAL OFFICE, PHONE 209
Factory Re-built Machines sold at Bargain Prices

Hunting Army to Invade North Woods

THE HUNTING STARS

The enormous increase in the sport of deer hunting has resulted not in the vanishing of the deer but in the increase of deer. This is not as mysterious as it sounds, the more deer there are the more plentiful the game will remain. The driving out of wolves has been the greatest factor in the increase of deer population, this is another factor almost as important as the wolves. The invasion of the backwoods by an army of enlightened tourists has demanded a much stricter and more sporting regard for game law than was the case before. The age-old question of whether human or animal, have to deal with a strong and more or less organized public opinion.

Good Hunting News

Reassuring news has been coming in daily to the offices of the general tourist department of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company from operators of camps and lodges and others who report that all signs point to an unusually promising hunting season for the current year.

CALLING THE MOOSE

Several south of the C.P.R. line and the surplus has crossed to the north of the tracks offering good hunting. He says that caribou are roaming the woods in increased numbers and as the C.P.R. line is now beyond the limits of the game preserve hunters don't have to go very far for their quarry.

The new Fish Sheddick camp at Lake Louise south west of Banff is also music to the hunters ears. Deer here are reported to be very plentiful and sport should be excellent.

Reports turned in by guides of the Ogilvie Bros. Camps on the Tobique River, N.B., are to the effect that deer, though very plentiful last year, are not to be expected this year. The same word comes from A. D. Thomas, at South Milford in the Kedgemoakoo district.

Lining Sights

Should you sight the deer with your sights or set your sights ahead of the deer and let him come on them?

Well, the army training which men overseas taught them to consider the deer as a target, however, gunners firing on moving targets were taught to throw a burst ahead of the deer and then strike him when he then let the target move onto the line of fire. Trying to follow a jumping deer in its excited movement is like trying to hit a bullet to guess a spot that the deer will pass.

Try to open the brush on which to lay your gun so your sights will not be obstructed.

For campers it helps to jump a little practice with their rifles a method of letting the deer run on sights already set is regarded as the most successful.

TO THE VICTOR THE SPOLDS

NOTICE!

TAKE EXTRA NOTICE!

The end of Charles Nicholas' Big Money-Raising Sale is nearing; have you got everything you need in clothing? No! of course not.

Here are some of the Bargains for the Last Three Days;

Sat., Mon. and Tues.

Ladies Hats, all different styles, special	$1.25
Ladies Slippers, all sizes, to clear at	$1.45
Ladies Silk Underwear, now going at, per suit	$1.45
Ladies Silk Hose, regular $1.00 a pair, now 3 pairs for	$1.00
Potter's Prints, assorted patterns, 4 yards for	$1.00
Plain Crepes, different shades, 6 yards for	$1.00
Children's Straw Hats, at	.65
Men's Windbreakers, now at	$3.45
Men's Brown Calf Oxfords, only	$4.25
Men's Black Denim Pants	$1.65
One Lot of Men's Work Shirts, going at	$1.15
One Lot of Men's Work Shirts, going at	.75
One Lot of Men's Dress Shirts, going at	$1.45
Men's Merino Underwear, per suit	$1.90
Boys' Windbreakers, at	$2.95
Large assortments of Boys Shoes to go at	$3.20
All Sneakers now going at	20 per cent off

Grab Boxes

Values from $1.00 to $5.00. Get one of these for the small amount of

25 cents

Lack of space does not permit us to mention the thousands of other bargains you will find. See the Windows on Friday and shop on Saturday

Chas. Nicholas

"The Family Clothier"

Coleman

Alberta

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

Japan has announced unconditional acceptance of the American anti-war treaty.

H.R.H. Prince George has been appointed to H.M.S. Durban as an interpreter in French.

P. C. Cavellhill, chief forester for British Columbia, will go to Australia to represent British Columbia at the British Empire forestry conference.

Ashes now has more than forty large fields for airplanes, and planes are under way for the construction of sixteen more, according to F. C. Crawford of Fairbanks.

It is probable that Premier King will go to Geneva, in September, as a Canadian delegate to the League of Nations assembly and also as a member of the council of the League on which Canada now has a seat.

Leaders of the Arab Congress presented Lord Plumer, the high commissioner, a demand for the institution of democratic rule in Palestine. Lord Plumer promised to take up the question at his visit to London.

French attorneys have entered protest against the "morally reprehensible conduct of United States in regard to the foreign divorce bill."

The protest was sent to the American Bar Association.

An air mail stamp will be issued in Canada soon. The stamp has been approved by Hon. P. J. Veniot, postmaster-general, but the denominations have not yet been decided upon. The stamp will be used on airmail routes now in operation.

The steamship North Shore has sailed from Quebec, prepared to stop at Greenley Island and at Long Point in the mainland to pick up the dismantled trans-Atlantic plane. Bremen and bring it to Quebec City, where the plane will be reassembled and put on exhibition for a short time.

The Newest Airship

Germany Is Proud Of Her New Super-Zeppelin

Behind the ceremonies attending the christening of the huge airship LZ-127, at Friedrichshafen lay a significance probably greater than a brief cable dispatch could indicate. They symbolized not only German pride in the completion of a new super Zeppelin, but German aspiration for a renewed leadership in what may experts regard as an important field of transportation—aviation—lighter-than-air transports.

The LZ-127, christened "Count Zeppelin," is now the world's largest completed airship. It can carry a greater "pay load" than any air vehicle in existence. Because of a wide travelling radius, it and others similarly large are expected to become in time the trans-oceanic carriers of mail, express and passengers.

Germany is not alone in the construction of new super dirigibles. In England even larger airships are being built for commercial purposes, with the idea of shortening travel time between London and Colonial possessions.

In the United States design data and bids have been asked for two new giants of the air to be used by the navy. It is, however, on the commercial possibilities of lighter-than-air craft that modern thought now centers.

Bernard River

Interesting Story Of How This Western Stream Got Its Name

In 1828 Sir George Simpson, governor of the Hudson's Bay Company crossed Canada from east to west by Peace River. At half past six on Sunday evening, September 7, the travellers laid aside their paddles to camp for the night at the mouth of a small tributary to Peace River, not far below where the latter river divides into two main branches, the Flinlay and the Parmp. In embarking from large canoes, passengers had generally to be carried from the canoe to the shore. Sir George Simpson's guide, Bernard, was carrying the Governor ashore when he fell with him into the water. Since that day the river has borne the name Bernard, and it is well known of the guide in that he was the principal figure in this incident. The name Bernard River has just been approved by the Geographic Board of Canada.

Where Begging Is Prohibited

Begging is prohibited in Lima and Callao. An order recently issued by President Leguia states that, in view of the completion of a beggars asylum by the Lima Society of Public Benevolence, capable of caring for 200 persons, anybody found soliciting alms will be arrested.

Automobiles As Settlers Effects May Be Imported Without Sales Or Excise Tax Under Certain Conditions

Certain officers of National Revenue have apparently had difficulty in deciding whether or not excise and sales tax applies on the importation of automobiles as settlers' effects, having in mind that Item 705a provides for the collection of duty on the amount in excess of $1,000 on motor vehicles imported as settlers' effects.

In order to clarify the situation, the Department submitted the question to the Department of Justice for an opinion as to whether or not the exemptions in Section 1 and 3 of the Excise and Sales Tax Act of Canada had the effect of exempting cars imported as settlers' effects in total or only to the value of $1,000 each.

The Department of Justice has ruled that automobiles entered as bonds for settlers' effects may be imported without the imposition of either sales or excise tax.

These cars, however, are subject to the regulations and restrictions by the Customs Division with respect to the length of ownership prior to importation, and length of retention after importation.

How a Town Prospered

Four Things Which Must Be Done
To Ensure Success

George Brown, the great pioneer of Toronto, addressed a Presbyterian audience in a little town, saying: "If you want your town to prosper there are four things that must be done:

(1) You must buy from your local merchants.

(2) You must uphold the character of your local manufacturers.

(3) You must support your schools and churches liberally.

(4) Above all you must give an ungrudging support to your local newspaper.

If you do these four things, and if then well, your town will one day be a city." His audience followed his advice and their town has become a city.

Winnipeg Newspaper Union

Smart Blazer For the Junior Miss

The blazer is decidedly smart this season and is shown here in two views worn over a chie one-piece frock. View A is made of striped flannel and has a notched collar, patch-pockets, and long two-piece sleeves, while view B is of plain and contrasting material. The back has a wide collar and front edges. No. 1027 is in sizes 10, 12 and 14 years. Size 10 requires 2 yards 36-inch, or 1 1/4 yards 36-inch, contrasted, 1 yard additional 36-inch, contrasting, for view "B." Price 25 cents the pattern.

The frock has plain and a yoke at front and back a high neck with shape contours. The shoulders are gathered to wrists, and a belt. No. 1028 is in sizes 10, 12 and 14 years. Size 10 requires 2 yards 36-inch, or 2 yards 54-inch material.

Our catalog book, illustrating the newest and most practical styles, will be of interest to every home dressmaker. Price of the book 10 cents the copy.

How To Order Patterns

Address: Winnipeg Newspaper Union,
175 McDermot Ave., Winnipeg

Pattern No. .... Size .....

.....

Name .....
Town .....

With the Canadian legation at Wash-

Farmers' Marketing Tour Canadian National Railways' Tour To Great Britain and Denmark, 1928

It was a pleasure to see the fine farm villages which were the life of the farms, kept the help who only too evidently were anxious to "make good" in Canada. The "make good" name was given so much so that one of our party declared that the ploughing he had seen did by no means fit the city workers who had come to share the same experienced ploughmen. Another declared that he would willingly engage in the work of the farmers, men who had earned a living, who were fine young men, an object lesson to the young men of the world. The tour was addressed by Mr. H. Betterton, Under-Secretary to the Ministry of Labor, who added that for one year the Canadian government had given to Great Britain observations, there was little but minor points to criticize for we were glad to recognize and commend the experiment which was so worth it in itself.

An amusing but useful device was a series of rounders addressed with the water. These were the first stages of teaching milking. An historic feature of the Weeting Hall estate was the use of a mated cow, the mother of the son-in-law of William the Conqueror.

Back in London, after having learned on the train as regards of the Ministry of Agriculture, we corded yet another high privilege, an informal reception at 10 Downing Street, the Prime Minister, Mr. Stanley Baldwin and Mrs. Baldwin. Dignified, plain, simple, nothing could be more expressive of the British character than the unperturbed attitude of these Ministers. As with the Prime Minister, General Balfour, the greeting given to us by the Prime Minister was most cordial and sincere. We might have been visiting the home of an old friend. And with a friend that Mr. Baldwin straight out to us. "I am told that you are of British employment difficult and appeal to me as an opponent of the Empire to help set us far apart." He was right.

He spoke of the great problem of the mutual advantage of Great Britain and Canada, and said that he had found it good was gratifying to him. He acknowledged it, asking us not to be surprised because these men had been unemployed for a very long period. Unemployment had been their misfortune, not their fault. They were kind and sound at heart, they never lost their training was a little encouragement.

We hoped he would see so far as we could, that the encouragement was given to them when they got to Canada.

Who of us would have dreamed when standing on our tour that, before we were back we should be in the cabinet room of 10 Downing Street, the Inner Council Chamber, where so many momentous decisions had been made, affecting not only the Empire, but the world itself, that in that room would be taken the decision of the Prime Minister of Great Britain, that he would ask our goodwill in favor of a great experiment, and that we should be able to help to wish, in a great Empire which we would not show, no not for worlds! We need not say the quantum of the handkerchiefs. Oh how cheery little pilot, she rose like a bird. Up, up she climbed until she reached 3,000 feet, flew unhesitatingly across London, and the large Lilliput tiny houses, "tiny plots, and ribbon roads. Those two little spuds, when the legs were broken beat off the tops of the Crystal Palace. Favoured by the wind we were travelling 110 miles an hour; seemed like we were slowly moving over the landscape. Soon all those quarter-of-an-hour in the air was ended. In a long graceful glide we were to earth, landing lightly as though tied to the place of destination. It was wonderful, exhilarating experience. In moments less than one, a high spot on the tour.

(To Be Continued.)

The stamp clerk often weighs other people's words.

Proposed U. S. Legation at Ottawa

How the new United States Legation at Ottawa will look. American architects have drawn plans for the building. The site will be adjacent to the Rideau Club, fronting Parliament Hill, where two buildings will be demolished to make room for the new structure.

The site cost the United States $100,000 and the building will cost about $500,000. This does not include quarters for the minister and his family and staff as is the case before this fascinating day was end.

The Imperial Institute had invited the representatives of the wooden industry, under the chairmanship of Mr. Frederick A. Ackroyd, a large and magnificient banquet tendered by Mr. Ackroyd was followed by addresses extending the Canadian interest in growing logs, wood which would meet the particular requirements of the English wooden industry. The interesting results of these meetings were met with strong defense by Mr. Arkell, of Canada's present policy in breeding one of the shortest woodyards for meat primarily on the markets of the United States. This added spice and stimulus to a delightful evening. Afterwards a short meeting of the Canadian Institute devoted to Dominion displays.

One more day and then "goodbye" to London, but before actually leaving, Paul was given an unexpected invitation, and our greatest thrill of the tour, a flight from Croydon airport, a superb and fast flying boat, the crippe, able to walk. Compare Jesus words to the man with a palsied arm: "Stretch forth thy hand" (Matthew 9:2), and in this case there was immediate cure.

The meet of Lystra, called upon it as a great material miracle, but the real miracle was the invitation to the man that lay behind it, the crippe's apprehension of the truth, and the application of it to own case; the crippe's knowledge of sight in the man's operation of faith in the living Lord. That was the wonderful thing.—G. Campbell Morgan.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

AUGUST 5

PAUL IN A PAGAN COUNTRY

Golden Text: "I know how to be abased, and I know also how to be exalted." 1 Cor. 4:12.

Devotional Reading: Matthew 5:10.

Explanations and Comments

Cripple Cured At Lystra, verses 6-10. Paul and his companions were faced with a stony paganism. Apparently there were no Jews in the city, and few Romans. There being no synagogue, Paul began to preach the gospel, which was received with enthusiasm by the Pagans. The crippe, who was listening with an eager attention, was revealed to the speaker of faith in Christ, for the man's healing. Suddenly Paul interrupted his address by commanding the crippe to stand, and the crippe, in a loud voice: "Stand up, I command thee." The crippe, who was lame from birth, sprang up, and walked.

One more day and then "goodbye" to London, but before actually leaving, Paul was given an unexpected invitation, and our greatest thrill of the tour, a flight from Croydon airport, a superb and fast flying boat, the crippe, able to walk. Compare Jesus words to the man with a palsied arm: "Stretch forth thy hand" (Matthew 9:2), and in this case there was immediate cure.

The meet of Lystra, called upon it as a great material miracle, but the real miracle was the invitation to the man that lay behind it, the crippe's apprehension of the truth, and the application of it to own case; the crippe's knowledge of sight in the man's operation of faith in the living Lord. That was the wonderful thing.—G. Campbell Morgan.

Announces Arts Competition

Viscount Willingdon To Donate Prizes Totaling Thousand Dollars

Announcement that His Excellency Viscount Willingdon purposes awarding prizes amounting in all to $1,000 for competition this year in music, drama, painting, and sculpture, will occasion much appreciation in art loving circles throughout the Dominion. In music there will be one prize of $200, and two prizes of $100 each; drama, one prize of $200; painting, one prize of $200; and sculpture, also one prize of $200.

These gifts indicate not only His Excellency's interest in the arts in Canada, but also his interest in Canada generally. It is a practical interest of a type that will appeal. The competition which he is inaugurating should do not a little to develop talent and engender skill in the arts and it is to be hoped the west will be heard in from the west in the contest. Post.

Admits Of No Argument

Money Spent In Advertising Is Gift— Edged Investment

The local merchant who fears to spend his money in advertising should never read the life story of John Wanamaker. If he does, he will have to revise his own complete-ly.

In a recent address made by Arthur Williams, Vice-President, the New York Edison Company, the speaker referred apropos of John Wanamaker and his first venture into the retail business:

"It is notable, and perhaps proprie-tary of modern business, that of the first day's receipts $1,260,000 were spent in advertising, 67 cents being retained for advertising. In making change the next morning."

There is an argument as to whether or not this was a wise proportioning. There is no argument, however, as to the ultimate business success of the advertising Wanamaker.

New Born Settlements

New Townsites Sprouting Up In The H.B.C. Area

New born settlements in Northern Canada are having rapid growth. Mining operations at Cranberry Portage, Coal Lake and Pine Flon, and the demand of the Western Prairies for timber and lumber, are the leading factors in the sprouting of settlements along the railroads.

The land offices at Grand Prairie and Peace River are showing the greatest activity. At the former point 289 entries are reported during the month of June, making a total of 732 for the three months' period ending June 30, and at Peace River 40 entries in June have made up a total of 1,040 in the three months. Northbound trains from Edmonton are bound carrying their full quota of prospective settlers, the majority of whom are either filing on homesteads or purchasing farm lands in the north.

Willings To Obey

Recently arrested and brought to court was an Irishman, to whom the thing was a new experience. He was however, unashamed, and wore an air of a man determined not to get the worst of it. "Prisoner at the bar," sang over the clerk, "do you wish to challenge any of the jury?"

Pat looked the men in the jury box over very carefully.

"Well, I'll tell ye," he finally said, "you'n't make in trainin', but of think of could start a round or two that'd fat boy in th' corner."

A wise man knows that his wife knows that he doesn't know so much.

Memory Of Explorer Honored

Hudson's Bay Company Remem-bers Captain From Whom It Takes Its Name

The Hudson's Bay Company of the year 1663, has done honor in a very befitting manner to its captain from whom it takes its name.

One day in the spring of 1667 master Henry Hudson and his crew met at the little church of St. Ethelburgha, in Bishopsgate Street, London, England, to take communion before sailing away to seek the Northwest Passage.

The little church was old then, but it still stands. The company has given it three windows, and, in the presence of some of its leading members, the first was unveiled a sort of anniversary of that communion.

In his little sailing vessel, with a crew of eleven men and a boy, the adventurous captain made two voyages to the Arctic ocean. On the third, in 1669, he sailed for the Dutch East India company. Taking a more southern route he discovered the Hudson river, and the Dutch traders who followed founded New Amsterdam by building a fort at the mouth of the river. In the three centuries since then have passed the great city of New York has grown up around that site.

In 1670 Hudson was again in the service of an English company. This time he took a crew of twenty-three men, and set out again to find the Northwest Passage. He discovered North Passage, and, in the spring of 1671, the crew mutinied. He was on his way to England.

The captain, with seven sick men and his son, were set adrift. Nothing was ever heard of the frail craft or its crew, but, ever since, the name of Captain Hudson has rung through Canada and the motherland, as well as the United States. The great company that still bears that name is one of the oldest and most honorable institutions of our country.

Homestead Entries Show Marked Increase

Great Activity Seen Around Land Offices In Alberta

Homestead entries at the various land offices in Alberta are showing a very marked increase as a result of new regulations announced from Ottawa. Under the new arrangement persons who had proved up their homesteads prior to January 1, 1925, are entitled to file a second homestead. It is necessary, however, to make application to the Commissioner of Land Branch, Ottawa, specifying the land previously homesteaded to secure authority from this source to enter for a second claim.

The Land Offices at Grand Prairie and Peace River are showing the greatest activity. At the former point 289 entries are reported during the month of June, making a total of 732 for the three months' period ending June 30, and at Peace River 40 entries in June have made up a total of 1,040 in the three months. Northbound trains from Edmonton are bound carrying their full quota of prospective settlers, the majority of whom are either filing on homesteads or purchasing farm lands in the north.

Through the Heart Of the Rockies

The journey by motor car over the entire length of the Banff-Windham Highway through the heart of the Canadian Rockies can be made comfortably in one day. The route follows the virgin wilderness, but rest camps, bungalow camps, and vice stations are located along the way in such numbers as to guarantee accommodation for those who wish to make a more leisurely tour of the road.

Production of lead, tin and zinc in Canada has increased from $2,181,000 in 1923, to $5,149,000 in 1927.

"Yes, everything except that noise,"—Meggendorfer Blaester, Mu-

Too Much Acid

Many people, two hours after eating, suffer indigestion as they call it. It is usually excess acid. Correct it with Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has quick, harmless and effective relief. Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has been made for 50 years the standard with physicians. It is specially prepared in water neutralizing many times its acid in stomach acids, and at once. The symptoms disappear in five minutes.

PAINTED FIRES
BY—
NELLIE L. McCULLOG
Copyright, Canada, 1925

CHAPTER XXIX.—Continued.

The heavy rain had washed the roots of the old dead grass into the ground, leaving the bold young shoots showing, and the air had such a bairniness that Helmi was content just to sit and breathe it and watch the clouds, clear and white, like faint wool, sailing overhead in the lightning blinks.

She wanted to sing a song of the passing winter, with all its strength of frost and weight of snow, its frozen rivers and leafless trees, for every budding tree and springing flower and carolling bird was singing. Once too she remembered a song Mrs. St. John used to sing, which she said was an old-fashioned thing, but she sang it to please the doctor, who liked the old songs best:

"Blue bird, true bird, with the golden wing."

Do you bring me a letter or do you bring me a ring?"

Helmi brought out a chair, and sitting on it, nursing her knees, she sang in perfect happiness. She had four dollars to buy a cradle, a sick baby in the Isolation Hospital, with three pups to whom she had promised food and shelter; a husband who apparently had deserted her, not a relative nearer than Finland; but she sang a song of hope, and love, and spring, looking into the blue sky above her, for in her heart there was the peace which passeth all understanding!

Mrs. McCann, on her way to the store, saw Helmi sitting at the end of the house and heard her singing, and forthwith forgot that she had left an oven full of pies.

"Helmy," she called, as she came

You will never use single methods when you know this better method. And you will never suffer from acid when you prove out this easy relief! Please do that—for your own sake!

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physician for 50 years in correcting excess acids. Read carefully full directions any drugstore.

nearer, out of breath in her hurry. "What is wrong with you? Have you come back?"

Helmy quickly rose up to greet her.

"The doctor is wrong, Mrs. McCann. I am all right—I'm fine—I'm happy that's all!"

"But Helmi, where is your child?"

Mrs. McCann was prepared to show a strong if somewhat belated interest in Helmi's baby.

"She is all right too," Helmy said. "She is in the Isolation Hospital with scarlet fever, but is doing well and will be out in a few weeks."

Mrs. McCann heard the news with doleful forebodings.

"Oh, Helmy, don't set your heart on scarlet fever again, scarlet fever. It always leaves something behind—deafness, or blindness, or something."

Helmy resisted an impulse to laugh.

"Oh, I don't think so," she said, "she will be all right. I feel sure she will, I am not worried."

Helmy's cheerfulness seemed most unmixed; nor could she explain it to Mrs. McCann, there was a greater bar between them now than even that of language.

"Well, it's grand to take things as easy as you do, Helmy. I must say you are a good girl. When we were little, they had the fever too, but we were not very bad, but I worried. Mr. McCann—so it was Mr. Bush. I had then—scolded me for crying all the time, but I couldn't help it. My how I cried! He could not understand a mother's heart, of course. But no doubt girls are different now—I was so conscientious. I suppose in a way you are glad to get away from the baby for awhile? Well, it was different when I—I slaved for mine, and he didn't pay. Are you going to stay? No! God help us! I have no place to go for quite this days. Pictures show attract them. Well, in the midst of life we are in death, remember that, Helmy, and don't put your trust in worldly pleasure. Did you hear what happened to the magistrate at Bannerman last night?"

In a happiness Helmy had not been thinking of the magistrate. Startled by Mrs. McCann's enquiry she could only say "Do you mean Col. Blackwood?"

"Yes, the same one—the one that forgot to put it down in his book."

"He was a good man before—he was struck with lightning."

"How do you know?"

"He was found lying on his back, stone dead, and his chimney all knocked down, and his eyes wide open."

Helmi shuddered—she knew just how the eyes looked.

"It gave me such a turn when I heard it, and I ain't been so well any way. My stomach's up on me again, Helmy; I believe I'll have to go home and see a doctor. I don't want to go to the doctor—he—he hasn't got the papers like they have in the States. All my trouble is, inward, Helmy, and I don't believe these doctors could ever understand it."

"I am sorry," said Helmy. "I wish I could help you."

In her new found happiness Helmy could understand Mrs. McCann and her pitiful little striving for praise and applause. Her sordid life, her little meanness, her petty jealousies, her dull gray outlook, smote Helmy's heart now with pity.

"You're a good girl, Helmy, no matter what you done has been done, and I'm a good girl to take you back, no, not what anyone says."

Helmy laughed as she patted her visitor's arm. "Where's good old Sim?" she asked quickly. "He is still in the hospital, so I guess he's well now. They say he'll never be able to night-watch again. You know I miss him, too, and wish now that I hadn't been quite so sharp with him. Well, won't you stay, Helmy?"

"No, I am going to the City," said Helmy, "but I want you to feed me and the pups for me. There's plenty of scraps from your table, and they can sleep in my house. I'll ask Bill

Larsen to shut the door at night and open it in the morning, and when I will be better I will come back. You will like my Bill, Mrs. McCann; she can smile now and play with her hands."

Mrs. McCann sighed. "I am always so glad when I see a girl baby born to someone who cares; and I would like to do something for her, to help her to make of her home and garden lying idle there and going to live. The garden has raspberries and currants and strawberry plants too, and there are provisions in the house for a year. If you go there I want you to take Cleo, too, and give her a home. She is wonderful dog. I cannot tell you how she has been to me. And the horse, Sailor, that I left with the horses, Sailor, that I left for you to drive to town. I would feel better if I knew you were there, dear Helmy, and I hope you will go. It does not seem reasonable to believe that I shall ever come back, but if I do, the place will be in better shape for your having occupied it. So you will be doing me a good turn. Write soon and often, Helmy, please."

At the bottom of the letter there was a postscript. "You will need to be housed with these men, for I bought all the miners' rights, so if the bank of the creek is solid coal, and I rather think it is, they will be all right. I'm fine—I'm happy that's all!"

"But Helmi, where is your child?"

Mrs. McCann was prepared to show a strong if somewhat belated interest in Helmi's baby.

"She is all right too," Helmy said.

"She is in the Isolation Hospital with scarlet fever, but is doing well and will be out in a few weeks."

Mrs. McCann heard the news with doleful forebodings.

"Oh, Helmy, don't set your heart on scarlet fever again, scarlet fever. It always leaves something behind—deafness, or blindness, or something."

Helmy resisted an impulse to laugh.

"Oh, I don't think so," she said, "she will be all right. I feel sure she will, I am not worried."

Helmy's cheerfulness seemed most unmixed; nor could she explain it to Mrs. McCann, there was a greater bar between them now than even that of language.

"Well, it's grand to take things as easy as you do, Helmy. I must say you are a good girl. When we were little, they had the fever too, but we were not very bad, but I worried. Mr. McCann—so it was Mr. Bush. I had then—scolded me for crying all the time, but I couldn't help it. My how I cried! He could not understand a mother's heart, of course. But no doubt girls are different now—I was so conscientious. I suppose in a way you are glad to get away from the baby for awhile? Well, it was different when I—I slaved for mine, and he didn't pay. Are you going to stay? No! God help us! I have no place to go for quite this days. Pictures show attract them. Well, in the midst of life we are in death, remember that, Helmy, and don't put your trust in worldly pleasure. Did you hear what happened to the magistrate at Bannerman last night?"

In a happiness Helmy had not been thinking of the magistrate. Startled by Mrs. McCann's enquiry she could only say "Do you mean Col. Blackwood?"

"Yes, the same one—the one that forgot to put it down in his book."

"He was a good man before—he was struck with lightning."

"How do you know?"

"He was found lying on his back, stone dead, and his chimney all knocked down, and his eyes wide open."

Helmy shuddered—she knew just how the eyes looked.

"It gave me such a turn when I heard it, and I ain't been so well any way. My stomach's up on me again, Helmy; I believe I'll have to go home and see a doctor. I don't want to go to the doctor—he—he hasn't got the papers like they have in the States. All my trouble is, inward, Helmy, and I don't believe these doctors could ever understand it."

"I am sorry," said Helmy. "I wish I could help you."

In her new found happiness Helmy could understand Mrs. McCann and her pitiful little striving for praise and applause. Her sordid life, her little meanness, her petty jealousies, her dull gray outlook, smote Helmy's heart now with pity.

"You're a good girl, Helmy, no matter what you done has been done, and I'm a good girl to take you back, no, not what anyone says."

Helmy laughed as she patted her visitor's arm. "Where's good old Sim?" she asked quickly. "He is still in the hospital, so I guess he's well now. They say he'll never be able to night-watch again. You know I miss him, too, and wish now that I hadn't been quite so sharp with him. Well, won't you stay, Helmy?"

"No, I am going to the City," said Helmy, "but I want you to feed me and the pups for me. There's plenty of scraps from your table, and they can sleep in my house. I'll ask Bill Larsen to shut the door at night and open it in the morning, and when I will be better I will come back. You will like my Bill, Mrs. McCann; she can smile now and play with her hands."

Mrs. McCann sighed. "I am always so glad when I see a girl baby born to someone who cares; and I would like to do something for her, to help her to make of her home and garden lying idle there and going to live. The garden has raspberries and currants and strawberry plants too, and there are provisions in the house for a year. If you go there I want you to take Cleo, too, and give her a home. She is wonderful dog. I cannot tell you how she has been to me. And the horse, Sailor, that I left with the horses, Sailor, that I left for you to drive to town. I would feel better if I knew you were there, dear Helmy, and I hope you will go. It does not seem reasonable to believe that I shall ever come back, but if I do, the place will be in better shape for your having occupied it. So you will be doing me a good turn. Write soon and often, Helmy, please."

At the bottom of the letter there was a postscript. "You will need to be housed with these men, for I bought all the miners' rights, so if the bank of the creek is solid coal, and I rather think it is, they will be all right. I'm fine—I'm happy that's all!"

"But Helmi, where is your child?"

Mrs. McCann was prepared to show a strong if somewhat belated interest in Helmi's baby.

"She is all right too," Helmy said.

"She is in the Isolation Hospital with scarlet fever, but is doing well and will be out in a few weeks."

Mrs. McCann heard the news with doleful forebodings.

"Oh, Helmy, don't set your heart on scarlet fever again, scarlet fever. It always leaves something behind—deafness, or blindness, or something."

Helmy resisted an impulse to laugh.

"Oh, I don't think so," she said, "she will be all right. I feel sure she will, I am not worried."

Helmy's cheerfulness seemed most unmixed; nor could she explain it to Mrs. McCann, there was a greater bar between them now than even that of language.

"Well, it's grand to take things as easy as you do, Helmy. I must say you are a good girl. When we were little, they had the fever too, but we were not very bad, but I worried. Mr. McCann—so it was Mr. Bush. I had then—scolded me for crying all the time, but I couldn't help it. My how I cried! He could not understand a mother's heart, of course. But no doubt girls are different now—I was so conscientious. I suppose in a way you are glad to get away from the baby for awhile? Well, it was different when I—I slaved for mine, and he didn't pay. Are you going to stay? No! God help us! I have no place to go for quite this days. Pictures show attract them. Well, in the midst of life we are in death, remember that, Helmy, and don't put your trust in worldly pleasure. Did you hear what happened to the magistrate at Bannerman last night?"

In a happiness Helmy had not been thinking of the magistrate. Startled by Mrs. McCann's enquiry she could only say "Do you mean Col. Blackwood?"

"Yes, the same one—the one that forgot to put it down in his book."

Helmy laughed as she patted her visitor's arm. "Where's good old Sim?" she asked quickly. "He is still in the hospital, so I guess he's well now. They say he'll never be able to night-watch again. You know I miss him, too, and wish now that I hadn't been quite so sharp with him. Well, won't you stay, Helmy?"

"No, I am going to the City," said Helmy, "but I want you to feed me and the pups for me. There's plenty of scraps from your table, and they can sleep in my house. I'll ask Bill Larsen to shut the door at night and open it in the morning, and when I will be better I will come back. You will like my Bill, Mrs. McCann; she can smile now and play with her hands."

Mrs. McCann sighed. "I am always so glad when I see a girl baby born to someone who cares; and I would like to do something for her, to help her to make of her home and garden lying idle there and going to live. The garden has raspberries and currants and strawberry plants too, and there are provisions in the house for a year. If you go there I want you to take Cleo, too, and give her a home. She is wonderful dog. I cannot tell you how she has been to me. And the horse, Sailor, that I left with the horses, Sailor, that I left for you to drive to town. I would feel better if I knew you were there, dear Helmy, and I hope you will go. It does not seem reasonable to believe that I shall ever come back, but if I do, the place will be in better shape for your having occupied it. So you will be doing me a good turn. Write soon and often, Helmy, please."

At the bottom of the letter there was a postscript. "You will need to be housed with these men, for I bought all the miners' rights, so if the bank of the creek is solid coal, and I rather think it is, they will be all right. I'm fine—I'm happy that's all!"

"But Helmi, where is your child?"

Mrs. McCann was prepared to show a strong if somewhat belated interest in Helmi's baby.

"She is all right too," Helmy said.

"She is in the Isolation Hospital with scarlet fever, but is doing well and will be out in a few weeks."

Mrs. McCann heard the news with doleful forebodings.

"Oh, Helmy, don't set your heart on scarlet fever again, scarlet fever. It always leaves something behind—deafness, or blindness, or something."

Helmy resisted an impulse to laugh.

"Oh, I don't think so," she said, "she will be all right. I feel sure she will, I am not worried."

Helmy's cheerfulness seemed most unmixed; nor could she explain it to Mrs. McCann, there was a greater bar between them now than even that of language.

"Well, it's grand to take things as easy as you do, Helmy. I must say you are a good girl. When we were little, they had the fever too, but we were not very bad, but I worried. Mr. McCann—so it was Mr. Bush. I had then—scolded me for crying all the time, but I couldn't help it. My how I cried! He could not understand a mother's heart, of course. But no doubt girls are different now—I was so conscientious. I suppose in a way you are glad to get away from the baby for awhile? Well, it was different when I—I slaved for mine, and he didn't pay. Are you going to stay? No! God help us! I have no place to go for quite this days. Pictures show attract them. Well, in the midst of life we are in death, remember that, Helmy, and don't put your trust in worldly pleasure. Did you hear what happened to the magistrate at Bannerman last night?"

In a happiness Helmy had not been thinking of the magistrate. Startled by Mrs. McCann's enquiry she could only say "Do you mean Col. Blackwood?"

"Yes, the same one—the one that forgot to put it down in his book."

Helmy laughed as she patted her visitor's arm. "Where's good old Sim?" she asked quickly. "He is still in the hospital, so I guess he's well now. They say he'll never be able to night-watch again. You know I miss him, too, and wish now that I hadn't been quite so sharp with him. Well, won't you stay, Helmy?"

"No, I am going to the City," said Helmy, "but I want you to feed me and the pups for me. There's plenty of scraps from your table, and they can sleep in my house. I'll ask Bill Larsen to shut the door at night and open it in the morning, and when I will be better I will come back. You will like my Bill, Mrs. McCann; she can smile now and play with her hands."

Mrs. McCann sighed. "I am always so glad when I see a girl baby born to someone who cares; and I would like to do something for her, to help her to make of her home and garden lying idle there and going to live. The garden has raspberries and currants and strawberry plants too, and there are provisions in the house for a year. If you go there I want you to take Cleo, too, and give her a home. She is wonderful dog. I cannot tell you how she has been to me. And the horse, Sailor, that I left with the horses, Sailor, that I left for you to drive to town. I would feel better if I knew you were there, dear Helmy, and I hope you will go. It does not seem reasonable to believe that I shall ever come back, but if I do, the place will be in better shape for your having occupied it. So you will be doing me a good turn. Write soon and often, Helmy, please."

At the bottom of the letter there was a postscript. "You will need to be housed with these men, for I bought all the miners' rights, so if the bank of the creek is solid coal, and I rather think it is, they will be all right. I'm fine—I'm happy that's all!"

"But Helmi, where is your child?"

Mrs. McCann was prepared to show a strong if somewhat belated interest in Helmi's baby.

"She is all right too," Helmy said.

"She is in the Isolation Hospital with scarlet fever, but is doing well and will be out in a few weeks."

Mrs. McCann heard the news with doleful forebodings.

"Oh, Helmy, don't set your heart on scarlet fever again, scarlet fever. It always leaves something behind—deafness, or blindness, or something."

Helmy resisted an impulse to laugh.

"Oh, I don't think so," she said, "she will be all right. I feel sure she will, I am not worried."

Helmy's cheerfulness seemed most unmixed; nor could she explain it to Mrs. McCann, there was a greater bar between them now than even that of language.

"Well, it's grand to take things as easy as you do, Helmy. I must say you are a good girl. When we were little, they had the fever too, but we were not very bad, but I worried. Mr. McCann—so it was Mr. Bush. I had then—scolded me for crying all the time, but I couldn't help it. My how I cried! He could not understand a mother's heart, of course. But no doubt girls are different now—I was so conscientious. I suppose in a way you are glad to get away from the baby for awhile? Well, it was different when I—I slaved for mine, and he didn't pay. Are you going to stay? No! God help us! I have no place to go for quite this days. Pictures show attract them. Well, in the midst of life we are in death, remember that, Helmy, and don't put your trust in worldly pleasure. Did you hear what happened to the magistrate at Bannerman last night?"

In a happiness Helmy had not been thinking of the magistrate. Startled by Mrs. McCann's enquiry she could only say "Do you mean Col. Blackwood?"

"Yes, the same one—the one that forgot to put it down in his book."

Helmy laughed as she patted her visitor's arm. "Where's good old Sim?" she asked quickly. "He is still in the hospital, so I guess he's well now. They say he'll never be able to night-watch again. You know I miss him, too, and wish now that I hadn't been quite so sharp with him. Well, won't you stay, Helmy?"

"No, I am going to the City," said Helmy, "but I want you to feed me and the pups for me. There's plenty of scraps from your table, and they can sleep in my house. I'll ask Bill Larsen to shut the door at night and open it in the morning, and when I will be better I will come back. You will like my Bill, Mrs. McCann; she can smile now and play with her hands."

Mrs. McCann sighed. "I am always so glad when I see a girl baby born to someone who cares; and I would like to do something for her, to help her to make of her home and garden lying idle there and going to live. The garden has raspberries and currants and strawberry plants too, and there are provisions in the house for a year. If you go there I want you to take Cleo, too, and give her a home. She is wonderful dog. I cannot tell you how she has been to me. And the horse, Sailor, that I left with the horses, Sailor, that I left for you to drive to town. I would feel better if I knew you were there, dear Helmy, and I hope you will go. It does not seem reasonable to believe that I shall ever come back, but if I do, the place will be in better shape for your having occupied it. So you will be doing me a good turn. Write soon and often, Helmy, please."

At the bottom of the letter there was a postscript. "You will need to be housed with these men, for I bought all the miners' rights, so if the bank of the creek is solid coal, and I rather think it is, they will be all right. I'm fine—I'm happy that's all!"

"But Helmi, where is your child?"

Mrs. McCann was prepared to show a strong if somewhat belated interest in Helmi's baby.

"She is all right too," Helmy said.

"She is in the Isolation Hospital with scarlet fever, but is doing well and will be out in a few weeks."

Mrs. McCann heard the news with doleful forebodings.

"Oh, Helmy, don't set your heart on scarlet fever again, scarlet fever. It always leaves something behind—deafness, or blindness, or something."

Helmy resisted an impulse to laugh.

"Oh, I don't think so," she said, "she will be all right. I feel sure she will, I am not worried."

Helmy's cheerfulness seemed most unmixed; nor could she explain it to Mrs. McCann, there was a greater bar between them now than even that of language.

"Well, it's grand to take things as easy as you do, Helmy. I must say you are a good girl. When we were little, they had the fever too, but we were not very bad, but I worried. Mr. McCann—so it was Mr. Bush. I had then—scolded me for crying all the time, but I couldn't help it. My how I cried! He could not understand a mother's heart, of course. But no doubt girls are different now—I was so conscientious. I suppose in a way you are glad to get away from the baby for awhile? Well, it was different when I—I slaved for mine, and he didn't pay. Are you going to stay? No! God help us! I have no place to go for quite this days. Pictures show attract them. Well, in the midst of life we are in death, remember that, Helmy, and don't put your trust in worldly pleasure. Did you hear what happened to the magistrate at Bannerman last night?"

In a happiness Helmy had not been thinking of the magistrate. Startled by Mrs. McCann's enquiry she could only say "Do you mean Col. Blackwood?"

"Yes, the same one—the one that forgot to put it down in his book."

Helmy laughed as she patted her visitor's arm. "Where's good old Sim?" she asked quickly. "He is still in the hospital, so I guess he's well now. They say he'll never be able to night-watch again. You know I miss him, too, and wish now that I hadn't been quite so sharp with him. Well, won't you stay, Helmy?"

"No, I am going to the City," said Helmy, "but I want you to feed me and the pups for me. There's plenty of scraps from your table, and they can sleep in my house. I'll ask Bill Larsen to shut the door at night and open it in the morning, and when I will be better I will come back. You will like my Bill, Mrs. McCann; she can smile now and play with her hands."

Mrs. McCann sighed. "I am always so glad when I see a girl baby born to someone who cares; and I would like to do something for her, to help her to make of her home and garden lying idle there and going to live. The garden has raspberries and currants and strawberry plants too, and there are provisions in the house for a year. If you go there I want you to take Cleo, too, and give her a home. She is wonderful dog. I cannot tell you how she has been to me. And the horse, Sailor, that I left with the horses, Sailor, that I left for you to drive to town. I would feel better if I knew you were there, dear Helmy, and I hope you will go. It does not seem reasonable to believe that I shall ever come back, but if I do, the place will be in better shape for your having occupied it. So you will be doing me a good turn. Write soon and often, Helmy, please."

At the bottom of the letter there was a postscript. "You will need to be housed with these men, for I bought all the miners' rights, so if the bank of the creek is solid coal, and I rather think it is, they will be all right. I'm fine—I'm happy that's all!"

"But Helmi, where is your child?"

Mrs. McCann was prepared to show a strong if somewhat belated interest in Helmi's baby.

"She is all right too," Helmy said.

"She is in the Isolation Hospital with scarlet fever, but is doing well and will be out in a few weeks."

Mrs. McCann heard the news with doleful forebodings.

"Oh, Helmy, don't set your heart on scarlet fever again, scarlet fever. It always leaves something behind—deafness, or blindness, or something."

Helmy resisted an impulse to laugh.

"Oh, I don't think so," she said, "she will be all right. I feel sure she will, I am not worried."

Helmy's cheerfulness seemed most unmixed; nor could she explain it to Mrs. McCann, there was a greater bar between them now than even that of language.

"Well, it's grand to take things as easy as you do, Helmy. I must say you are a good girl. When we were little, they had the fever too, but we were not very bad, but I worried. Mr. McCann—so it was Mr. Bush. I had then—scolded me for crying all the time, but I couldn't help it. My how I cried! He could not understand a mother's heart, of course. But no doubt girls are different now—I was so conscientious. I suppose in a way you are glad to get away from the baby for awhile? Well, it was different when I—I slaved for mine, and he didn't pay. Are you going to stay? No! God help us! I have no place to go for quite this days. Pictures show attract them. Well, in the midst of life we are in death, remember that, Helmy, and don't put your trust in worldly pleasure. Did you hear what happened to the magistrate at Bannerman last night?"

In a happiness Helmy had not been thinking of the magistrate. Startled by Mrs. McCann's enquiry she could only say "Do you mean Col. Blackwood?"

"Yes, the same one—the one that forgot to put it down in his book."

Helmy laughed as she patted her visitor's arm. "Where's good old Sim?" she asked quickly. "He is still in the hospital, so I guess he's well now. They say he'll never be able to night-watch again. You know I miss him, too, and wish now that I hadn't been quite so sharp with him. Well, won't you stay, Helmy?"

"No, I am going to the City," said Helmy, "but I want you to feed me and the pups for me. There's plenty of scraps from your table, and they can sleep in my house. I'll ask Bill

Special

Day Dream Powder, regular size, and Loose Powder Vanity Case both for

75 cents

H. C. McBURNEY

Druggist and Stationer Coleman, Alberta

COLEMAN Groceria News

FOR ONE WEEK

Bathing Suits FREE

With every $5.00 Purchase of Groceries or Dry Goods you get one Cotton Bathing Suit FREE for Boys or Girls, size 22 to 32.

With every $8.00 Purchase you get one Cotton Bathing Suit FREE for Men or Ladies, size 34 to 44.

Above Deal is for CASH ONLY

CHILDREN'S SPORT SHOES AT BARGAIN PRICES

A very nice Shoe Slipper, suitable for summer wear, just the weight required and very durable.

PRICES: $1.75, $1.95 and $2.25

Some have Pancho Soles, others Rubber

ANTROBUS SHOE STORE

About This Time O'Year

It is well to keep an eagle eye on one's wardrobe, for this kind of weather is certainly hard on your clothes.

Heat and humidity to put a damper on the sprightliest of summer suits—outdoor dust to sift and settle—long, cool drinks to drip—and light weight, light-colored fabrics to fairly ballyhoo every blemish to all who give us a glance!

Now, if ever, a modern Dry Cleaner should be caged and given your house number.

He'll come around regularly and get your summer fagged suits—he'll put new life into discolored fabrics—new pep into deflated naps—new brightness into dust-dimmed colors—new cool freshness into clothes that threaten to stage a midsummer slump!

Fortunately, there is a modern Dry Cleaner within easy reach of where you live.

Clothes do help you win
dry clean them oftenest!

CROWS NEST CLEANERS AND DYERS

FERNIE B.C.

We Call and Deliver "We Aim to Please You!"
PHONE NO. 232, LEOSKY, LEDIEU & CO.

PRINTED STATIONERY is NECESSARY
in any business. Get samples from The Journal

Personal and Local

Nellie Valentine, beloved wife of Geo. H. Snod, passed away at 2 o'clock this afternoon, after several months patient suffering.

Lieut. Meekings of the Salvation Army is spending two weeks' vacation in Calgary. On his return Capt. Donald will leave on his vacation and will likely visit at his old home at Nanaimo, B.C.

G. Powell returned last Thursday from three weeks' holiday at Whitefish and Flathead, Mont. He was accompanied on his return by his daughter, Mrs. Carson of Winnipeg, and his niece, Miss Virginia Felt of St. Paul, and they made the trip from St. Paul via Winnipeg, taking six days.

Sunday was an ideal day for the various fishing parties who visited the favorite spots in the district. One party of which Tom Holstead and Jerry Lonsbury were the pilots had a remarkably good morning's fishing. They went out on Saturday night to the North Fork, getting an early start on Sunday morning, and by noon they had caught the limit of some very fine trout, including a big 'bull trout', so that they were back in town before 6 p.m. As a result a number of their friends enjoyed a delicious meal of fresh trout.

George Jenkins won the prize for the largest fish on Sunday, at the South Fork, with a basket of 4 lbs. 9 ozs. Johnson McCullough caught the largest bull trout, and Joe Ladous the largest speckled trout.

You can obtain a bathing suit free—see the Coleman Groceria advertisement.

Alex. Thanos of the Palm Cafe, is at present in Vancouver, receiving medical treatment.

Jack Baird of Nanaimo, B.C. has taken a chair in W. J. McGrath's barber shop.

Use the Classified advt. column to advertise articles for sale,* lost, found, etc., 2c per word. Minimum charge 35c.

Two carloads of new Ford cars are to arrive on August 7th and 16th, states Alex. M. Morrison. A carload arrived last week and were quickly disposed of.

Mrs. Brennan, of the hospital staff, left this morning to visit her son Felix, at Trail, B.C. She was accompanied by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. J. R. Brennan, of Dunmore.

Mr. and Mrs. Mathew Wilson and son Adam, and two nieces, Nelly and Nellie Gardner, returned on Sunday from a two weeks motor trip to the coast. While in Vancouver, Adam met Tom Burns, who asked to be remembered to all his former friends in Coleman. Tommy is making good progress and likes the city. The Journal reaches him every Monday morning, and he is always pleased to receive it.

DO YOU WRITE LETTERS?
Hand-written letters are a thing of the past in the business world. They take much longer time to read than typewritten letters, and mistakes more easily occur through illegible writing. In the modern way is to write all letters with a typewriter, and with a little practice, a person of average intelligence can make fair speed. If you still stick to the old-fashioned way, take a few moments to read the display advertisement in this issue concerning the Remington Portable.

St. Albans' Coleman
Sunday, August 5, Matina at 11:15 a.m.
Friday, August 3, Choir practice at 7:30 p.m.

We Examine Eyes Scientifically

GLASSES FITTED

SEE
G. R. POWELL
Licensed Optometrist Coleman

The Garden of Eden at the Palace Theatre

What went on in the Garden of Eden? Corinne Griffith in this startling picture will be the stellar attraction at the Palace on Friday and Saturday. It is her first United Artists Picture, and other stars appearing are Lowell Sherman, Louise Dresser and Charles Ray. In addition there will be the Fox Weekly News and a comedy. It is an exceptionally good program and "The Garden of Eden" will be a heart thrill for you to see and to feel.

CLASSIFIED ADVTs.

Advertisements under this heading, such as for Sale, To Rent, Lost, Found, etc., charge 10c per word per line, counting five words to the line, with a minimum charge of 35c.

FOR SALE: 6-Roomed house fully modern, in splendid location, a good opportunity. Apply to Mrs. W. G. Fraser, Sixth street.

FOR SALE: One McClary Cooking Stove with hot water front, and two good Heaters, also Kitchen Linoleum. Apply to Mrs. Kinnear, Caribou Lane.

FOR SALE: A Baby Carriage, in good condition. Apply to the Journal Office.

FOR SALE: A Piano, in good condition. Apply to Mrs. W. G. Fraser, 6th street.

—46-t.f.

—46-t.f.